Milk Supply.

The city of Paducah is congratulating itself on the fact that the State Inspectors have pronounced the milk supply of that city to be as good as any in Kentucky. Congratulations are in order.

There has been remarkable improvement in the milk sold in Kentucky cities and this has been due to the energetic efforts of pure food officials and health officers, who have been eliminating the unsanitary dairies and cleaning up diseased herds of cattle. As a result of their efforts there are more up to date dairies, and the dairymen are taking greater pains to see that the public is supplied with milk of better quality.

The milk supply of the State is not all that it should be, as much remains to be done, but it is gratifying to know that in all our bigger centres of population something has been accomplished toward the protection of the interests of the public. There is reason to believe that even on the farms there is more attention paid to the purity of the product than was the case before the pure milk campaign was begun in the cities. Kentucky now has many sanitary dairies where formerly she had few. She needs many more, as there is great room for the expansion of the dairy industry. It is more important, however, that we should have a few clean dairies than that we should have many of the other kind. Sanitation should come first; when standards are established along that line it will be better, both for the dairymen and for the people in general.

Maps Prepared.

The Postoffice Department has announced that by December 15 it will have prepared maps of the parcels post system, showing the rates from all Kentucky points to elsewhere in the United States and to each other.

Victory for Circuit Clerks.

"When the Legislature enacted Section 1722 it intended to allow the clerks of the circuit courts $5 for their services in each case of the Commonwealth against a defendant charged with a felony, and that this fee is due and payable when the case is taken from the docket by either dismissing or quashing the indictment or by a trial before a jury," said the Court of Appeals, deciding a contention over fees in favor of L. P. Lay, clerk of the Whitley Circuit Court. The opinion settles a much mooted question as to whether the clerk is entitled to his fee of $5 for each individual defendant when several are named in a joint indictment.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—An exceptionally fine crop of tobacco belonging to J. C. Bosworth, deputy sheriff of Fayette county, was sold at the Shelbourne warehouse Tuesday at an average of $22.50 per hundred. One basket of fancy cigarette stuff out of his offering went to the high price of $36 per hundred.

—A. J. A. Alexander, of Fayette, sold at auction in Lexington Tuesday sixty head of Duroc Jersey hogs. The prices ranged from $6.50 to $70, the latter price being obtained for an aged boar. Sows sold for $65 and $70. McKee Bros., of Versailles, with whom George Clayton, formerly of Bourbon, is connected, were among the largest purchasers.

—The suit of Jesse N. Fishback against Perry C. Ward, involving about $80 worth of corn, has been appealed from the Nicholas county court to the Circuit Court of that county. The case has been tried six times and has been appealed for the seventh time. Already the costs amount to several times the value of the corn.

—The Boys Corn Club Show and Rural School Fair of Nicholas county will be held in Carlisle on Saturday, December 7. All of the schools in the county will be represented.

—Henry T. Hopkins, of Sharpburg, has sold to Albert Dav., of Fleming county, 105 head of two year old cattle for August and September delivery, 1913, at $7 per hundred.

Attacks Section of Postal Laws.

The opening attack upon the constitutionality of the sections of the recent postal appropriation act requiring newspapers to publish a list of their subscribers, stockholders, as well as to label paid political articles as "advertisements," was made Monday before the Supreme Court of the United States in a printed brief filed by Robert C. Morris and G. B. Plante, on behalf of the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin of New York. The case is set for argument orally on December 2.

The attorneys for the newspapers contend principally that the sections violate the constitutional liberty of the 25,000 newspapers, magazines and periodicals published throughout the United States.

Unlike public service corporations, the newspapers, the attorneys claim, possess no elements which give the Government a right to regulate their business, except insofar as the public morals or public welfare is concerned.

"Absolutely no authority can be found for a contention that the provisions complained of in this act were enacted for the public benefit," declare the attorneys. "Neither the government nor the public at large can be benefited by the knowledge of the private business affairs and the financial condition of the owner of a newspaper. On the other hand, the provisions objected to in the act are more than unreasonable in their demands upon the owner of a newspaper—they are seriously injurious. They strike down private rights and invade personal freedom and destroy private property, in that they ruin the publication if it refuses to meet their arbitrary demands, for ruin would surely follow the denial of the privileges of the mail."

"In the act individual injury is inflicted without any corresponding benefit to society. If the corporation is doing business upon borrowed money, for which it has issued its notes or other obligations, it must publish to the world the holders of such obligations, to the annoyance of such lenders and the endangering of its credit. It must show the vulnerable spots in its financial armor to the benefit of its competitors and enemies. Banks and other large financial institutions will refuse to loan it money for fear that they will be held out and advertised as supporting or controlling its editorial or political policy. Nor are these fanciful objections. To the business man they are real and alarming."

The attorneys warn lawyers, doctors and other professional men that, if this act is upheld, Congress may equally require them to publish and disclose the names of their clients.

Asks Injunction Against L. & N.

Judge A. P. Humphrey, representing the Western Union Telegraph Company, filed suit Tuesday in the Federal Court at Louisville asking an injunction to prevent the Louisville and Nashville from interfering with the poles, wires and other property of the Western Union Company along the railroad right of way until litigation now pending between the corporations is settled. The previous facts in this litigation are as follows:

The contract which the Western Union has with the Louisville and Nashville expires December 1, and the Western Union now has in the Federal Court a suit to condemn the right of way along the road now occupied by the telegraph company. That suit will come up upon matters of pleadings December 3.

In the meantime the Louisville and Nashville, through counsel, has notified the Western Union that if the Western Union does not remove its property on December 1 the Louisville and Nashville will claim that property. The suit Tuesday was simply for an injunction to retain the status quo until the condemnation litigation be determined.

Brain Power Always First.

The average brain worker, it is safe to allege, if given the preference between perfect bodily health accompanied by a sluggish brain, and the discomfort arising from physical suffering allied to a bright, active brain in good working trim would doubtless choose the latter.

Impossible.

Woman of Narrow Mind.

A woman lacking true culture is said to betray by conversation a mind of narrow compass, bounded on the north by her servants, on the east by her children, on the south by her ailments, and on the west by her clothes. —Burton Kingsland.

NO ONE STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that disorders of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says: "every feeling, emotion and affection reports at the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly. It is the vital center of the body * * * * * He continues, 'so we may be said to live (through) the stomach.' He goes on to show that the stomach is the vital center of the body. For weak stomachs and the consequent indigestion or dyspepsia, and the multitude of various diseases which result therefrom, no medicine can be better suited as a curative agent than

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"Several months ago I suffered from a severe pain right under the breast-bone," writes Mrs. G. M. MURKEN, of Corona, Calif. "I had suffered from it, off and on, for several years. I also suffered from heart-burn, did not know what was the matter with me. I tried several medicines but they did me no good. Finally, I was told it was my liver. I did not dare to eat as it made me worse. Whenever I swallowed anything it seemed that I would faint—it hurt so. I grew very thin and weak from not eating. Was told to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took five bottles of it, and could feel myself getting better from the first dose. I could eat a little without pain and grew strong fast. To-day I am strong and well and can do a big day's work with ease. Can eat everything and have put on flesh wonderfully. I will say to all sufferers write to Dr. Pierce. He has my undying gratitude."
